TMI Cares

Teaching

is a roll-up-your-sleeves, high involvement profession. Its process requires a careful integration of the intellectual realm with the physical world. TMI is committed to providing casework that helps schools and teachers be as effective as possible.

TMI casework will look great on the day it is installed in your school. We guarantee it. But there are more pressing concerns: How will it look and perform ten years later? Or fifteen? How will it serve the needs of teachers and students after it has been used day after day, week after week for an entire generation? These are the things that keep TMI designers and engineers continually challenged.

- TMI is the nation's largest laminate casework manufacturer for primary, secondary and higher education.
- We've been designing and building casework, countertops and architectural woodwork for all general and specialized school applications since 1969.

Learning

is not a static endeavor. It is quite active. TMI designs and builds casework to encourage the open exploration of ideas.

Functionality

Ultimately, form follows function. Libraries are different from technology labs, and art rooms are different from chemistry labs. TMI knows how to support the teaching and learning process in each environment.
